

VIRGINIA'S GOLGOTHA.

A REMINISCENCE OF THE STORMY DAYS OF SIXTY-ONE.

Confessing to the Assassination of Six Persons—Their Bleached Bones Found at the Base of a Haunted Crag—Arrest of the Friend.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 2.—In the late summer of 1861, when this state was a part of Virginia, and when unionists and secessionists were engaged in constant brawls among these mountains, Elijah Wrenn, then about fifty years old, and living near Petersburg, Grant county, killed Hiram Ault, a neighbor, in the presence of Ann Gunn and a young man who was subsequently killed in the union army. Wrenn was arrested for the murder and incarcerated in Herkulesburg jail. He was a union man, and the unionists of the neighborhood claimed that his arrest was the result of secessionist spite. One day, therefore, a few days before that set for his trial, a band of union soldiers went to the jail and released him. Not long after he wandered off to Virginia and was not heard from again till two years ago, when he returned to the neighborhood of his crime. Meantime all the Ault family had died except one sister of the murdered man. Miss Gunn had also moved away, and the memory of the murder had been effaced, the sister being at the time of the murder too young to know anything about it. A few days ago Miss Ault met Ann Gunn, while on a visit, and from her she learned the particulars of Hiram's murder, including the startling information that his murderer was then living in Miss Ault's neighborhood. Upon her return home she had Wrenn arrested.

When taken to jail he was surprised, on a with a grimy sheet of paper was found a list of twelve persons who had mysteriously disappeared from the neighborhood during Wrenn's former residence there. It was at once suspected that Wrenn had a guilty knowledge of their mode of disappearance, and he was closely questioned about the matter. Finally he confessed that he himself had killed six of them. He said that he had enticed them one by one to a lonely crag, which for years has had the name of being haunted, and which is now one in the neighborhood lives to visit. Catching them unawares, he had pitched them over, and they had been dashed to pieces on the broken rocks below. He had had the mangled bodies in a tangle of brush near by. Among the list of persons thus killed by the monster were his own son, Elijah Wrenn, Jr., and a near neighbor named Wm. McArthur. The neighbors and the officers at the confession viewed the haunted crag, and not far from it they found the bleached bones of five persons.

The Broken Mississippi Levees.
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.—Word is received from Lake Providence, in East Carroll parish, that the break in the levee there has been widened to about 1,300 feet, and an average depth of three feet of water was pouring through from the Mississippi river upon the plantations in the rear. Assistant State Engineer Hollier Thompson is on the ground, doing what he can to secure the ends of the levee, to prevent further extension. Judge J. W. Montgomery and Judge W. W. Wiley are the greatest sufferers, as their valuable plantations are in close proximity to the opening. If the present rise continues the result will be most disastrous, and the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas railroad will soon be under water and the business stopped for the high water season. This is one of the works which an act of the last legislature required should be given to the ring of levee contractors, as the law in money pay by law, are enabled to net a handsome revenue by the use of convict labor, which is sold at auction on their part, have completed the main levee at that point. They failed to do this, however, but waited until the flood came upon them, and attempted with scraps to construct a firm mound out of frozen ground. The present condition of affairs is the result, and now Mr. Kewey has to shoulder the blame as he favored the law in question, and promptly signed and promulgated it.

New York, Feb. 2.—Andrew Jackson Davis, the apostle of spiritualism, brought an action in the supreme court for the annulment of his marriage, in 1850, with Mary F. Love, a spiritualist lecturer. The case was referred to W. C. Holbrook, who has reported in favor of granting the decree. It appears from the testimony before the referee that about a year after the marriage Samuel G. Love obtained a divorce in the supreme court in Buffalo from Mary F. Love, and on the matter being called to Mr. Davis' attention he ceased to cohabit with her, but continued to maintain a brotherly and fraternal relation and to hold her out as his wife, because of their business relations, which made it necessary sometimes for her to travel with him on his lecturing tour. Since the recent decision of the court of appeals that a person prohibited from marrying again commits bigamy by violating the prohibition, it was thought advisable to have the marriage annulled.

Earthquake on the Hudson.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Low rumbling sounds like distant thunder, followed by a very perceptible trembling of the earth, startled residents of Cortlandt, Yorktown and other northern towns of Westchester county on Saturday night. Crockery and other ware was thrown from shelves, and the shock was altogether too great to have been caused by anything except a genuine earthquake. The frequent recurrence of these earthquakes in Westchester county are very alarming to the superstitious.

Thrown From the Track.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 2.—The east-bound express train on the Memphis & Charleston railroad was wrecked near Brownsville Sunday night. The train was running forty miles an hour when it was thrown from the track. The engineer and fireman narrowly escaped being killed. Luggage master Keeler and express messenger Schmidt were dangerously injured. The baggage car and smoker were demolished. No passengers were injured.

The Authorities Foster Athletics.
TORONTO, Feb. 2.—John F. Scholten, champion boxer of Canada, has been matched to spar with Charles Mitchell, for $1,000 a side, with eight rounds. The fight will come off on February 10, and will be under the patronage of Lieut. Gov. Robinson, of Ontario, and Mayor Manning. Scholten is training here.
